

Whether you are a seasoned knowledge management practitioner or just interested in the field, KMSA provides a network of likeminded people willing to share their expertise.

Participants are from all walks of life, including public and corporate sectors, consultants, and academia, who connect monthly by video conference. Other activities include a lively WhatsApp chat group and an annual conference. We source content for our meetings both locally and internationally.

Our membership model focuses on the individual practitioner, but we also offer group membership rates for institutions employing many practitioners. For a single annual group fee of R6 000, any employee of the organisation can enjoy the benefits of full membership.

Member benefits include:

1. Monthly knowledge management workshops & webinars
2. Annual industry convention
3. Lively KM focused digital chat group
4. Regular news bulletins
5. International networking opportunities
6. Professional credentialing

Membership is available in the following formats:

- Individual Practitioner Membership – invoiced to you privately. (R1 765 per annum)
- Individual Practitioner Membership – invoiced to your company. (R1 765 per annum)
- Corporate Group Membership – covering multiple Individual Practitioners. (R 6 300)
- Retired Individual Members (no charge)
- Student Member (no charge, while registered for the current academic year)

About KMSA

The association is a not-for-profit body owned and managed by its members in terms of its constitution and memorandum of incorporation. The association recovers its operating costs from members by charging members an annual membership subscription fee, payable by the end of the second month of each year. Members may participate in the governance of the organisation at the annual general meeting of members or by volunteering to serve on the board or other operational committees.
